TestDaF
Test Deutsch als Fremdsprache

The digital TestDaF
Information for test centres

Digitalisation in higher education – the digital TestDaF

The digital TestDaF contains tasks that are an authentic representation of everyday life at university.

Use of digital media

- Audio recordings (e.g. lectures, seminar contributions)
- Video recordings (e.g. plenum discussions)
- Presentation slides

Integrated tasks

- Reading a text and summarising it orally or in writing
- Listening to a text and comparing it with a written summary or a diagram or graph

Structure of the digital TestDaF

👁	Reading	7 tasks 34 items	approx. 55 min.
	10 min. break
👂	Listening	7 tasks 30 items	approx. 40 min.
	30 min. break
✏	Writing	2 tasks	60 min.
	10 min. break
💬	Speaking	7 tasks	approx. 35 min.

Test preparation

How can you prepare your students for the digital TestDaF?

- Deutsch-Uni Online (DUO) offers
  - Format training as a self-study course or with tutoring
  - Courses up to and including level B2
- Didactic teaching and learning materials for use in test centres

TestDaF has been awarded the Q-Mark by the Association of Language Testers in Europe (ALTE) several times. The Q-Mark indicates compliance with internationally recognised quality standards.

ALTE Q217

Topics and types of texts

University-related topics are dealt with in a generally understandable way, e.g. from the following fields:

- Humanities and natural sciences
- Social and political sciences
- Engineering and technology
- Economics, medicine and humanities

Technical terms are explained in the texts.

Text types for knowledge transfer

- Excerpts from presentations, lectures, introductory literature, research reports, articles in scientific journals
- Discussions on the organisation of studies and study (subject) related topics
- Contributions to study groups, seminars and discussions

Your benefits

As test centre

- Lower administrative effort in digital testing
- Receive an allowance for administering the test
- Benefit from tailor-made testing and preparation courses for study in Germany at your location
- Receive support from g.a.s.t. for your marketing activities
- g.a.s.t. provides training in the areas of assessment, testing and e-learning: www.gast.de/akademie

TestDaF is offered by g.a.s.t.

gesellschaft für akademische studienvorbereitung und testentwicklung e.v.